

Spring Fashion 2017 ~ The Modest Edition

I am so happy that spring is here! I thought it would be fun to do a post showing modest options for the latest styles of 2017. If you don't care to see what's in, scroll to the bottom to see what NEEDS to be back out. ;)

Here is a modest take on what's in this spring.

BOLD STRIPES:

The first dress is more in line with the stripe look that is truly in and you can find it here.

The second dress is a little more affordable. I personally love the soft color palette. You can find this option here.

FLORAL:

Does floral ever go out of style?! You can't go wrong with this classic look! I am in LOVE with this shirt! It combines stripes and floral and would compliment any body type. The featured floral dress would be a PERFECT Easter dress.

KHAKI:

AHHH! I am so excited that khaki is making a comeback! This khaki skirt can be dressed up or down so easily! I would definitely label this as a staple item!

GRAPHIC TEES:

I am super picky about graphic tees because sometimes I find the messages a little demeaning of our Lord. That is just my personal opinion though. :) I actually went to Etsy to find this one! I love how feminine the script looks.

WHITE DENIM:

I LOVE this skirt from Macy's! When I was researching for this post, this skirt was on sale for $19.99! That is a great price for a jean skirt. :)

2017 COLOR OF THE YEAR:

Loving this shade of green! You can bet you will be seeing this color everywhere as it is predicted to be THE color this year!

WHAT'S NOT SO HOT:

Oh goodness! I wish I were making this up. Can you believe that bathrobes and gator skin are predicted to be hot fashion items this year?! I personally think I will pass on wearing these items out in public. LOL!
